Courier Blankets Area With 28,938 Copies

Edition Points Up Greater Service By Your 'Paper'

THE BRISTOL COURIER made a kind of history yesterday when it distributed 28,938 copies of its 48-page "Meet Your Neighbor" edition throughout Lower Bucks County. Distribution of the nearly 29,000 out of 30,000 papers printed is without precedent in this area. It served as a gigantic introduction of neighbor to neighbor to point up some of the booming things that are happening to the Middle Valley. Families between Bristol and Dolington, Andalusia and Yardley began receiving their copies sometime after 4:30 a. m. yesterday when distributors began their monumental task. By about 6 p. m. the job was pretty well done. THE COURIER'S new rotary press began to hum, then roar, and before it died down again, it had gone through some eight tons of newsprint to produce the huge edition. Endless Chain For 15 hours spread over a three-day period the big rotary press

Fine Job Done By Assemblers

An unusual feature of the Bristol Courier's distribution of its 28,938 copies yesterday was that much of the readying for distribution was done by amateurs, people who had never been in a newspaper plant before. Charles Beckman, office manager, said 16 local housewives and extra men were hired for the tremendous task of stuffing the three sections of the edition together and counting, bundling and tying the papers. He praised the way they did their temporary jobs and turned in creditable performances.

drew in an endless chain of newsprint and poured out tremendous piles of the edition. On the old flat-bed press, which the rotary press replaced, the job would have taken 45 hours. Then "stuffers" went to work to

Conference Due On Levitt's Plan To Build Schools

Heartily approved by Bristol township school board, William J. Levitt's offer to build two elementary schools will be discussed in the builder's office Monday with the school board and authority, and Bucks County School Superintendent Dr. Charles H. Boehm. They will meet at 10 a. m. to consider legal and other details involved in the builder's proposal. Levitt said the schools could be finished by December 1954, if approved immediately. He said he would build on two sites already approved by the State Department of Education, on the former Bolton farm west of Levittown parkway and on Mill Creek road west of Edgely avenue.

Guarantee Funds

In addition to building on a non-profit basis, Levitt said he would guarantee the financing, if necessary. Informed by Dr. Boehm that the school construction would have to be advertised, with authorities seeking the lowest bidder, Levitt replied, "I am not opposed to public bidding on the contracts. After all, we want to have the schools constructed as cheaply as possible." Levitt said he was prepared to start work on the buildings at the end of the month if necessary. He stressed the fact that incoming families of the building project in Levittown would soon deluge the school system as it stands now. He urged action by the board within 30 days in order to get preliminary plans under way.

Legal Barrier

Although the school board heartily endorsed the suggestion made by Levitt, they said that a legal barrier had to be overcome before final plans could be drawn up. The possible barrier in this case would be state approval; however, both the school board and Levitt are prepared to go to Gov. John S. Fine if necessary.

Government Hand In Business Draws Fire From Martin

Senator Edward Martin, of Pennsylvania, told New Jersey Republicans last night that when the Republicans took over the White House, they "found the government not only in business, but actually being a big business itself." "It has been called 'creeping socialism,'" he observed, "but sometimes I think it has been galloping." He explained that it was such big business that it practically amounted to a fourth branch of government. Sen. Martin stated that the government operates about 100 different kinds of business enterprises, with an investment of more than forty billion dollars; it is the guarantor for almost 250 billion more, and has a public debt of 272 billion.

Activities Are Cited

"The government is in almost every business you can imagine," including roasting coffee, recapping tires and making brooms," he told members of the Somerset, N. J., County Republican Campaign Committee at a dinner. Sen. Martin accused the federal government of trying to run state government, under the philosophy that government can take care of the people better than they can take care of themselves. He pointed out that in Pennsylvania, for instance, there are two and one-half times as many federal civilian employees working in the state as there are state employees.

Fears Financial Effect

"Deficit financing and the centralization of government are the great dangers facing the American people," he said. "I fear the results of government financial collapse from within more than the invasion of an enemy army from without." Sen. Martin urged the precept of decentralization at all levels of government. The Republican party, he said, is engaged in a reorganization to return the government to the people. TWO YOUTHS—NO 5—INSIDE Thomas Blair, 46 Delaware avenue, and Gerald Mincher, 1 Main street, both of Lambertville, escaped serious injury Tuesday night when they overturned on River road, two miles south of Lambertville. According to State Trooper Burke of the Flemington Station, the car, driven by Blair, hit the left bank on a curve, traveled 74 feet, and then overturned after striking the guard rail on the right side of the highway. The 17-year-old youths were shaken up but unhurt.

Action Still Pending On 'Citizen' Board

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 1.—The addition of Levittown residents to the Falls Township School Board, "is by no means a dead project," Ulrich A. Frank, chairman of the Levittown Civic Association educational committee said this week. "The educational committee is continuing to work with the board and they have spoken to many of the people we have suggested," Frank said. "They have not decided as yet. It seems to be a thing that takes time."

County Chest Fund Starts Drive Today

It starts today - the second annual financial campaign of the Bucks County Community Chest. During the month of October, some 2600 volunteer workers from all parts of the county will be busily engaged in seeking solicitations from firms and individuals. The campaign personnel will seek to raise a total of $341,920. Of this amount, $42,500 will be sought by the American Red Cross in large industries employing 25 persons or more. In this endeavor, the Red Cross will conduct a concurrent campaign the first half of the month with the Chest. Seeks $299,420 The Chest will endeavor to raise $299,420 which is the amount of money required by the 15 Chest agencies to conduct programs during 1954. Campaign activities have been underway for several weeks. The national campaign poster, designed by Norman Rockwell, has been distributed to offices and stores all over the county by various Boy Scout troops. Supplies Distributed The Scouts have also distributed supplies to the industries in the upper end of the county, the Red Cross Motor Corps has performed the same task in the central part of the county, and the YMCA has handled this job in the lower end of the county. Various Girl Scout troops assembled supplies in proper units for use of the workers in the drive. Marie Nonnast of Doylestown illustrated a Chest leaflet, which will be distributed to all prospective givers.

Driverless Auto Makes Grade

FAIRLESS HILLS, Oct. 1 — A driverless car smashed into a house in Fairless Hills Tuesday causing an estimated damage of $750. It was reported by Falls township patrolman William McHugh.

The automobile, owned by George Tuskar, 27, 315 Andover road, Fairless Hills, slipped from its garage and slid down the driveway across the street and into the home of J. Wayne, 314 Andover road. Police said Tuskar blamed the incident on a faulty emergency brake.

4 Hurt in Crash Of Ambulance And Trolley Car

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 — Four persons were injured when an ambulance of the Bristol Blood Donors Emergency Squad collided with a trolley car in the Lindley section of Philadelphia Tuesday morning. Philadelphia police said that Ralph H. Ratcliffe, 26, of 346 Jefferson ave., Bristol, was driving west in the center lane of the Roosevelt boulevard when the accident occurred. The impact of the crash lifted the trolley from the tracks on the east bound lane of the boulevard at 5th street and drove it up the side of a curb and into a tree. Neither Ratcliffe nor the motorman, John Corbin, were injured in the crash which blocked motor traffic for almost three-quarters-of-an-hour. The ambulance was on an errand of mercy at the time of the accident. Harry Richman, 35, of 3032 Fountain street, Philadelphia, was being taken to the Einstein Medical Center at Old York road and Broad street, after he suffered a fractured collarbone and chest injuries from a fall from a scaffold in the engineering building of Kaiser Metal Products Company, Inc., at Jefferson and Canal streets. Richman, an employee of the Sandler and Furman, oil heating firm, of 2905 W. Susquehanna avenue, Philadelphia, was installing heating equipment in the building. Slightly injured in the crash were Frank Taylor, 42, of 318 Otter

Langhorne Boost In Water Rate Starts Round of Protests

Action by the Langhorne Spring Water Co. to enact a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in water rates has brought a mild tide of protest, according to a spot survey of consumers in Langhorne, Langhorne Manor, Pottsville, Hulterville and Middletown township today. The new rates, filed in Harrisburg with the Public Utility Commission, are to take effect Dec. 1. They affect all 1,285 of the privately-owned firm's customers. President J. Hibbs Buckman, Jr., of the water company said this will be the first boost in rates since 1915. Cites Increased Costs "Just like everyone else, we've tried to hold the line as long as we could," he said. "The cost of everything else has increased probably 100 per cent since 1946," he added. "The price of water has got to go up, because of increased costs in wages and raw materials. The expansion here is so rapid that it is going to take more, to keep going. "We have made the increase as small as we could," Buckman said. "To keep rendering adequate service, we just have to increase our income."

Motorist Dozes, Hits Guide Wire

CROYDON, Oct. 1 — When Walter M. Kates, of 3712 Azalea drive, Philadelphia, opened his eyes at 5:30 Tuesday night, he found his car against the guide wire on Route 13 at Newportville road. That was the explanation Bristol Twp. Officer Harry Bauer received from Kates, who said he dozed off at the wheel. The driver was not injured, but his car was damaged and had to be towed away.

Mamie Finds White House Is Just the Place

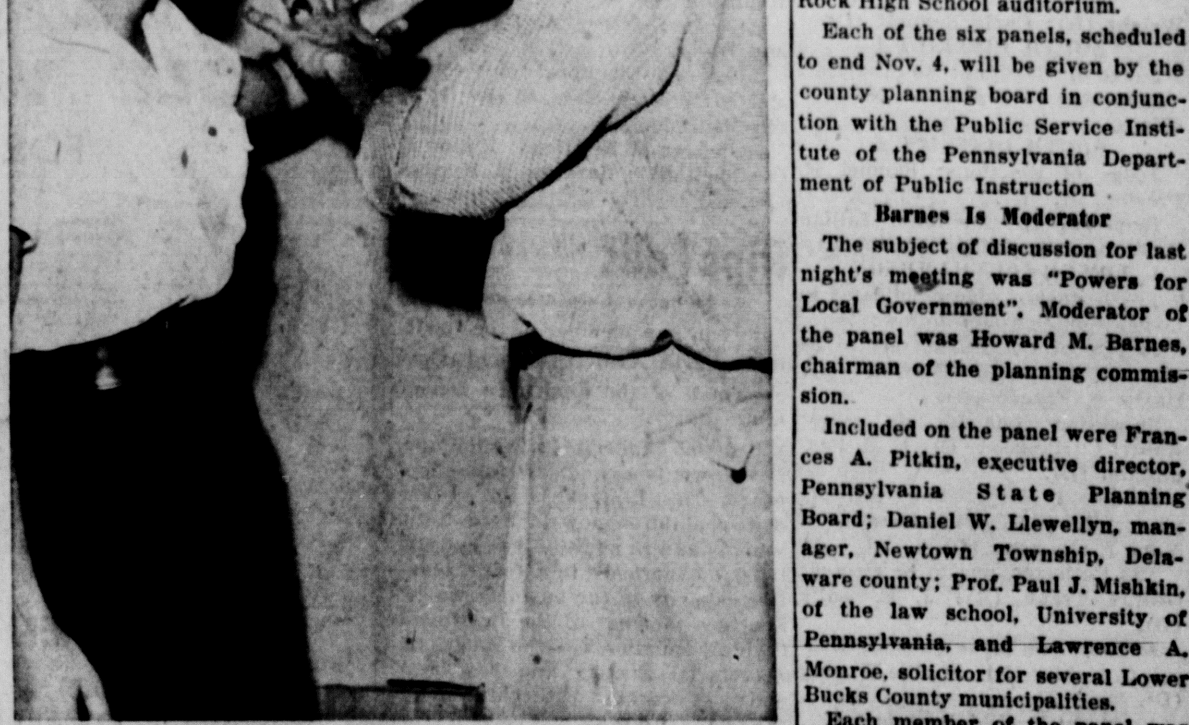

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (INS) — The first lady likes the White House! A sparkling, vivacious Mamie Eisenhower told newsmen that she has yet to have her first "headache" in connection with her official duties. Mrs. Eisenhower's predecessor, Bess Wallace Truman, made no secret of the fact she did not enjoy her eight-year stay at the executive mansion.

First of County Planning Sessions Furnishes Broad Discussion of Problems

Look at That

Powers of Local Government Are Front-Line Topic

The first in a series of panel discussions for Lower Bucks officials sponsored by the Bucks County Planning Commission was held last night in Council Rock High School, Newtown. Designed to give Lower Bucks officials an insight in the workings of the planning commission and its relation to each community within the county, the discussion started a series of six meetings, all scheduled to take place in the Council Rock High School auditorium. Each of the six panels, scheduled to end Nov. 4, will be given by the county planning board in conjunction with the Public Service Institute of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction. Barnes Is Moderator The subject of discussion for last night's meeting was "Powers for Local Government." Moderator of the panel was Howard M. Barnes, chairman of the planning commission.

CLASS RINGS received by the senior class of Delhans High School, Tuesday, are being tried on for size by Seniors Lee Polle, of 1107 First avenue, Croydon, and George Manley, of 3312 Third avenue, West Bristol. Lee and George were on the ring committee which had the job of deciding on the specifications of the ring.

Son Falsely Arrested, Croydon Woman Says

Mrs. Charles Holland, of 709 Exchange avenue, Croydon, angered by the arrest of her son, Charles, by the Bristol Township police three weeks ago on a charge of driving while intoxicated, today charged that the police "were all wrong." She maintained that police used subterfuge by calling her son from Connie's Tavern, Croydon, and placing him under arrest. "If they were so sure that my son was drunk," asked Mrs. Holland, "why didn't they stop him on the highway as they claim they did?" Said They Trilled Him Her son, Charles, was arrested the night of Sept. 10 by Officers Ernest Nuskey and Chief John R. Stewart. The officers said they followed Holland on State road and arrested him when they saw him weave from his car and return. Chief Stewart said the mother's charge is "ridiculous." "We saw him driving down State road and noticed him weaving from side to side. He was taken to the hospital where doctors called him drunk. We have enough evidence to prove that our arrest was valid."

Police say Holland showed signs of intoxication in his driving and they forced his car to the side of the road and placed him under arrest on suspicion of drunken driving. He was then taken by the police to Bristol General Hospital where he was examined by physicians and pronounced intoxicated. "My son was in the tavern at the time of his arrest," Mrs. Holland said, "and I have enough witnesses to prove what the police say is a lie."

Bus Firm Seeks State Permission For L'town Route

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 1 — The Neibauer Bus Company applied to the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission last week for immediate temporary rights to provide bus service in Levittown. This is the second application made by the company, according to Edward W. Neibauer, general manager. The Neibauer organization was one of three bus companies which applied to the commission about a year ago, for sole rights in the area. These applications are still pending. Last week's application was made to meet immediate needs, Neibauer said. The firm had not planned to make additional application, until results of the first petition were known, according to Neibauer. However, the firm feels that something must be done to meet the immediate need of Levittown residents. FIGHT AUTO BLAZE Bristol Consolidated Fire Company put out an automobile fire Tuesday night on Pond street east of Walnut. The cause was attributed to burning brake linings.

Wm. Penn Center To Study Prejudice

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 1 — For the second time, an adult course in social psychology called, "Incident Control" will be given at the William Penn Center for persons interested in a thorough study of the prejudice problem and what can be done about it. The ten week course will begin Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. According to Bradshaw Snipes, chairman of the committee on community relations, 23 persons have registered for the course. "We are pleased with the interest that community leaders have shown in Incident Control," Snipes said. Although registration is limited, there is still room for ten more in the course, he said.

County is Warned To Be on Lookout For Blasting Caps

Warning to Bucks County residents to report any blasting caps they find was sounded today by a spokesman for the Institute of Maker of Explosive, with headquarters in New York City.

The warning came on the heels of a reported theft of a case of electric blasting caps from a construction shed in Rushland.

The spokesman said many teenagers have been crippled, lost toes, fingers and eyes because they tampered with blasting caps. "These are essential tools of industry," he said. "They are not toys."

Used for Blasting

Blasting caps are used in detonating dynamite or blasting powder and are extremely dangerous in the hands of people who don't know how to handle them, he said.

Electric blasting caps of the type stolen are from two to four inches long and about as thick as a thin pencil. The explosive charge is encased in bright aluminum or copper to which wiring is attached.

When they are detonated in the open, metal particles may fly as far as 200 feet, the spokesman declared.

Report to Fire Marshal

The spokesman urged anyone finding any of the caps to report the find immediately to a fire marshal, police officer or sheriff.

a letter from the company announcing the new rates.

Expressing his personal opinion, Palmer said: "We as a borough will want to know what we are going to get for the raise and how we are going to benefit. Are we still going to have the same service or get better service?"

"I don't like it," said a Hulterville housewife, Mrs. Orville Morris. "When we had the water pipes put in, the company said the rate would go down, but it has never changed. I don't know what the idea is for it to go up. I think we pay a pretty high water rate already."

Calls It Surprise

In Pennell, Councilman James Eagan commented, briefly: "It strikes me as an unpleasant surprise."

Buckman said the average consumer pays $28 to $30 per year, and will be charged an additional $5 or $6. That will be an average increase of about 1 1/2 cents per day, he said, or about 50 cents a month more.

For public fire hydrants, the company's rate of $12 per hydrant per year will not increase, Buckman said.

He said the rapid post-war development in the Langhorne area has compelled the company to increase its facilities at a cost of close to $100,000.

street, Bristol, and Albert Taylor, put the three sections of the paper together. Local housewives were hired to do this extra work and employees of other departments pitched in to carry papers to work tables.

Tricky Job

It was a big, tricky job, which started about three weeks ago when reporters received special assignments for the comprehensive stories of Lower Bucks County which the paper carried.

Copyreaders and proofreaders checked his news copy, advertising was drawn up and compositors set it all in type. And all this had to be done in between times while each day's regular edition was being turned out.

Distribution was handled with few hitches by the following major newspaper handlers:

Raymond Uplike, Newtown; Robert C. Magee, Langhorne Terrace; Charles Young, Morrisville; Nelson Dilliplane, Yardley Edward Currie, Langhorne; Frank Bowers, Fleetwing Estates; the Bristol News Agency; Sidney Bound, Cornwells Heights; and Robert McIlhenny of Cornwells Heights, who trucked the papers to Newtown, Morrisville, Yardley and Langhorne and handled complete distribution in Levittown.

New View

The special edition was designed to give new residents of Lower Bucks County a clearer picture of what's happening here and to give old residents a new grasp.

It also served notice that THE BRISTOL COURIER is meeting

the demands of the rapidly expanding area to provide broader news coverage.

The Courier is spending a quarter of a million dollars on new equipment and facilities, features and services and is expanding its news, advertising, composing, circulation and business departments to better serve the people of Lower Bucks County.

Two cars were damaged at 8 a. m. Wednesday in a collision at Beaver street and Second avenue, borough police reported.

Officers Peter Caro and Gasper Favorosa said a car operated by Michael A. Perseponko, 22, of 812 Third avenue, turned left on Beaver street from Second avenue, borough police reported.

PUT OUT DUMP FIRE

put the three sections of the paper together. Local housewives were hired to do this extra work and employees of other departments pitched in to carry papers to work tables.

Tricky Job

It was a big, tricky job, which started about three weeks ago when reporters received special assignments for the comprehensive stories of Lower Bucks County which the paper carried.

Copyreaders and proofreaders checked his news copy, advertising was drawn up and compositors set it all in type. And all this had to be done in between times while each day's regular edition was being turned out.

Distribution was handled with few hitches by the following major newspaper handlers:

Raymond Uplike, Newtown; Robert C. Magee, Langhorne Terrace; Charles Young, Morrisville; Nelson Dilliplane, Yardley Edward Currie, Langhorne; Frank Bowers, Fleetwing Estates; the Bristol News Agency; Sidney Bound, Cornwells Heights; and Robert McIlhenny of Cornwells Heights, who trucked the papers to Newtown, Morrisville, Yardley and Langhorne and handled complete distribution in Levittown.

New View

The special edition was designed to give new residents of Lower Bucks County a clearer picture of what's happening here and to give old residents a new grasp.

It also served notice that THE BRISTOL COURIER is meeting

the demands of the rapidly expanding area to provide broader news coverage.

The Courier is spending a quarter of a million dollars on new equipment and facilities, features and services and is expanding its news, advertising, composing, circulation and business departments to better serve the people of Lower Bucks County.

Two cars were damaged at 8 a. m. Wednesday in a collision at Beaver street and Second avenue, borough police reported.

Officers Peter Caro and Gasper Favorosa said a car operated by Michael A. Perseponko, 22, of 812 Third avenue, turned left on Beaver street from Second avenue, borough police reported.

Emphasis Put On Fund Needs For Red Cross

Warning that "nothing is over but the shooting," Henry M. O'Brien, campaign chairman for the Lower Bucks Red Cross branch, this week called on the community for generous support to the appeal for funds to be conducted Oct. 1-15 among industrial and business firms in this area.

The drive, known as the Bucks County Community Chest - Red Cross Campaign opens today and continues for two weeks. It will be confined to executive, employee and corporate giving.

To emphasize the need for support to the drive, O'Brien said that the Red Cross serves with the armed forces in 40 countries, provides services for repatriated prisoners of war, collected last year five million pints of blood on which American fighting forces in Korea had first call; provided gamma globulin to combat polio paralysis, aided disaster victims, and served as the "link" between servicemen and their families at home.

The American Red Cross, the leased POW with a comfort kit free telephone and cable service from Freedom Village and at the port of arrival on the west coast Red Cross workers served with the troops on the fighting fronts throughout Korea, at hospitals and set up recreation rooms and programs at rest centers.

He said the theme of the Red Cross drive will be "Answer the Call—Join and Serve."

"Through your support in the past you proved the willingness of men and women in free countries to help one another without any thought of reward," O'Brien said.

The Red Cross leader pointed out that community support to the coming campaign is needed if the Red Cross is to continue as the "link" between our fighting men in all parts of the world and their families, and to ease the minds of GIs with counsel and financial assistance either for himself or his family.

"Nothing is over but the shooting," O'Brien said, adding "and the job ahead is one of vigilance and waiting. To our men still Korea and in some 40 odd countries around the world, as well as to their families, The Red Cross must continue to give help," he said.

"Many thousands of veterans of the Korean fighting will be hospitalized for a long time trying to recover the health they lost in our behalf, and to them the Red hairman said, supplied each refugee must mean kindly personal service.

"The Red Cross — which is the people — can only continue these indispensable programs with the help of the people," O'Brien said.

Mr. O'Brien declared that the Red Cross blood program must go on, pointing out that a backlog of blood must be built up for defense, for treatment of those still suffering from wounds, to fight polio paralysis with gamma globulin, and to meet the constantly growing civilian need.

"The Red Cross is set up to handle this important job," O'Brien said, "but the extent to which it will be done will depend on the amount of support extended by the community to the coming fund appeal."

O'Brien said that during the past year, the Lower Bucks County Red Cross branch, with the support of the citizens, collected 2334 pints of blood for use by the armed forces, civilian hospitals and to be manufactured into gamma globulin. It cost the Red Cross an average of $4 for each pint collected, processed and delivered.

In addition to these services, Red Cross must have funds to continue its important free training in first aid, water safety and home nursing, and to carry on its many other activities for members of the armed forces and civilians, O'Brien said.

Things to Teach the Child Who's Ready to Enter School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THERE are many wonderful teachers — teachers for whom most parents rightly hold great respect.

Parents who have children under school age are especially eager to listen to the counsel of teachers. They want to know how they may best prepare their little children now to get on well when they enter school.

If I were again teaching in the grades, even in high school, I would offer parents the following as good home preparation for school:

Essential Training

Teachers have to waste an enormous amount of time with children who have never learned at home the meaning of the simple word No; who have not learned proper self-control and consideration for the rights and feelings of others; who have not learned to play and get along with other children; who are still tied to their mother's apron strings, and have never learned to wait on themselves or to bear the simplest responsibilities.

Now's the time to teach your child that there are some things he mustn't do and some things he cannot have, even when he doesn't see the reason why. Work in this direction on situations in which you can check personally. Rarely say No, but when you say it, do not shout it or repeat it. Say it once in a natural tone, and be sure he always gets adequately unpleasant consequences when he doesn't obey the forbidding. Don't be afraid to smack the small child. As soon as he respects your word, you can abandon spanking, and punish him instead by requiring him to sit, unamused, in a chair for a definite period (15-30 minutes). Hope to abandon spanking by the time he enters school.

Don't be frightened by the silly warnings about frustrating him. Of course you must frustrate him some now, so he will meet with fewer frustrations later. Be deaf to the warning that your child will resent any punishments. No child who is punished fairly and consistently, will resent it. What he resents are the inconsistencies and frailties of parents in rebuking or punishing him. You won't lose his love if you discipline him fairly.

On the other hand, if he gets beyond your control, he will receive less and less love from you and feel less for you in return. You will so often get on each other's nerves that you will be annoyed at each other most of the time, with little time left for mutual endearments and companionship. In order for your child to get as much love and affection from you as he deserves, he must have acquired adequate inhibitions, been properly restrained. (My bulletins "Love and Restraint" and "How To Teach Tot Meaning of No" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Play Important

I would also urge these parents to encourage their child to play with other children of his age, to train him to do for himself what he is able to do and to require him to do some regular jobs at home.

I would emphasize, too, the value of a happy, companionable, understanding family in which this child is treated as the worthy individual that he really is, where everything he does seriously and every question he asks are considered important.

TEN YEARS EARLY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 (INS)—Approximately 157 Philadelphia municipal employees were disclosed today to have received pay checks dated 1963. The city treasurer's office prevented any hardship by authorizing banks and check cashing agencies to accept the checks, which ordinarily would be valueless for the next 10 years.

Final Stamp Put On Indo-China Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (INS)—The United States will grant France an additional $385 million by the end of 1954 to step up the war against Communism in Indo-China.

This will be in addition to the $400 million already earmarked for American aid to the French and their native allies in the eight-year-old war against Red Vietnamese forces.

It was disclosed by French Premier Joseph Laniel several weeks ago that the U. S. National Security Council had recommended authorization of $385 million.

Today's announcement, in a joint U. S.-French communique, made it official.

It's WHERE you buy a used car that counts!

When you can trust the dealer who sold you a used car, you can trust the car!

No one can beat our reputation! We're established businessmen, here to stay. We've got a big investment and our good name to uphold, so it pays us to treat you fair and square! And it'll pay you to deal with us!

No one can beat our prices! The used cars we get as trade-ins for new Fords must keep moving—so we're offering them to you at rock-bottom prices!

No one can beat our renewing facilities! We're in the service business as well as the car-selling business. So we have the tools and equipment to do most any job!

No one can beat our mechanics! Our expert mechanics work on cars day in and day out. They know how to spot trouble fast . . . and they know what to do about it!

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Weeping may endure for the night but joy cometh in the morning.—Ps. 30:5.

Millions have imagined that their world would always remain dark. Just a few days or even a few hours often dispel the deepest depression. God's love we have if we throw ourselves upon his mercy.

CANNOT HAPPEN HERE

A realistic appraisal of American business is summed up by W. H. Brenton, president of the American Bankers Association: "Healthy despite soft spots." And the soft spots are merely adjustments, after which there will be a pickup.

It has long since dawned upon most Americans that, with the federal government a major employer and consumer, there is a floor under business which will prevent long downward economic slides such as were common in the past.

The government also has sweeping power over money and credit which will enable it to take a slide in hand during its early stages and stop it. The government can expand the money supply by any amount it desires, ease terms for borrowers and encourage lending. It can increase purchasing power by cutting taxes and operating on a deficit basis, which increases the money supply. In fact, it did just that for 20 years.

In view of political punishment meted out to the party in charge during a depression, it is inconceivable any party would permit a depression to continue, regardless of how onerous the cure might appear. Having the power to stop a downward plunge, it will do so if the occasion calls for such action.

Those who fear a depression are thinking in terms of the past, when government power and government deficits were held in abhorrence. There are those today who are convinced the government again should stand aside and permit the economy to get down to bedrock for its disciplinary effect and to slough off "socialism." But politicians know that inflation and government deficits are more palatable to the voters.

Long-Hair Bing Says, Night Club or Met

By Inez Robb (INS) — NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — (INS) — If you were to ask me real quick what the difference is between singing in opera and in a night club, I would say that you sing louder in the former and funnier in the latter.

And for this off-the-cuff definition, I shall probably be barred from the Metropolitan Opera House — a fate some referees will not regard as much worse than death — by Rudolph Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. Bing-Bang-Bing is a strict long-hair man himself, with no use for gates. He has just given one of the latter, as a matter of fact, to Helen Traubel, the Met's chief Wagnerian soprano, for picking up a little mink and Brink's money on the night club circuit.

Miss Traubel, one of America's own operatic greats, was given her choice of the Met or the mob. Miss Traubel chose the mob with the result that she will not be heard at the Met during the coming season, but only on teevee, radio and Joe's tavern.

It is definitely the tavern's gain, for Miss Traubel was the only real, all-around Wagnerian soprano at the Met. As a baseball fan and part-owner of a St. Louis team, she was the only soprano at the opera house on familiar terms with both Richard and Honus, and — for all I know — with Bob Jr.

Night clubs aren't my dish of tea, but I don't get the fine distinction drawn between "The Desert and the Town" by Mr. Bing. He has not yet turned either Rise Stevens or Patrice Munsel out into the cold for trafficking with the movies.

Nor has he yet ordered Lily Pons not to darken the Met's historic door because she put on long black tights and kicked up her heels on television the other night with Imogene Coca.

Miss Pons, for Mr. Bing's information, was definitely doing the can-can, or a reasonable facsimile. And no one so far, perish forbid, has accused Miss Traubel of any such assault on the arts in her night club tour. Miss T. in justice to her, has kept her feet where they belong, and her skirts likewise I'm sure.

I don't want to preach or put the finger on Lily. On her, tight, look good. But other ladies at the Met ought to have a rule of thumb to keep them in Mr. Bing's favor, and some guidance and clarification is plainly necessary at this point.

• Mr. Bing tried to get Danny Kaye to play the role of the drunk-jailer in his English version of "Die Fledermaus." Only a previous commitment kept Mr. Kaye, the great basso buffono, from accepting.

Will someone kindly explain to me the difference between Mr. Bing raiding vaudeville and the night club circuit for Mr. Kaye (another famous night club artist did play the role), and vaudeville and the night club circuit raiding the Met for Miss Traubel?

Ever since he hit the Met, Mr. Bing has been raiding Broadway for talent to help him keep the Met, the nation's most fabulous invalid, on its feet. Margaret Webster and Alfred Lunt are only two Broadway figures whose genius has been commandeered by Mr. Bing.

What, then, is the difference when a night club taps a Met singer for an engagement at more money per week than the Met can ante up in a season? Hasn't Mr. Bing ever heard of reciprocity?

We have a fine old folk saying in this country that Mr. Bing has probably not yet absorbed, to wit: If you want the gravy, you have to make allowance for the spots on the vest.

WASHINGTON REPORT
By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 — Charges that the Communists are violating the Korean truce by flying in Russian-built jet fighters and other weapons building up a striking force, will have serious repercussions in the United Nations.

If the violations are proved — and an escaped MIG pilot is the principal witness that the Communists have ignored the truce in this manner — the UN will not be able to ignore the accusations at a time when United States officials are doing their best to rehabilitate the international organization.

Vice President Richard Nixon is the latest member of the Eisenhower Administration to attempt a little UN face lifting. He followed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to the UN building in New York in attempting to carry out the President's instructions that UN prestige must be restored — instructions coupled with new U. S. demands that certain changes be made in the basic UN charter.

This new evidence that the Russians have passed on to their Chinese puppets the habit of ignoring solemn agreements will not sit well with the American people. Even before this came up, we were having difficulty deciding whether the UN is worth the time and money it costs.

Already wracked by exposures of Communists among U. S. staffers — and more hearings on the subject are in the offing — the U. N. either will accede to U. S. demands for changes in the charter or face the continued consequences of a hostile nation.

All the U. S. is asking, initially, is that our government have jurisdiction over U. S. citizens on the U. N. payroll. The U. S. now has hire-and-fire authority over the staff of its own delegation, but not over Americans on the U. S. staff proper. Now, if an American Communist is exposed on the U. N. payroll, the U. N. legal staff rushes to his defense. In a number of cases, it has awarded indemnity payments amounting to several times the annual salary drawn by the accused.

The Eisenhower Administration theory — which has almost unanimous support in Congress — is that this nation ought to be able to say in detail who is and who is not going to represent us. This should include Americans employed directly by the U. N., whose services as translators and technical advisers are in demand.

The U. N. has held that these employees are international and cannot be disturbed by member countries. The Communists have seized this ruling as their private Iron Curtain and so far the U. N. has not only upheld them but paid well for what it apparently regards as our unwarranted interference.

Two Congressional Committees — one headed by Senator William Jenner, Republican of Indiana, the other by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy — have taken effective potshots at unreliable U. N. employees. Neither Senator has any intention of calling off the probes until he is confident the U. N. is cleared of Communists and the new security regulations are effective.

Henceforth, all new American citizen employees of the U. N. must be cleared by the FBI before going on the payroll. The new jobholders, however, are not the ones who are embarrassing the international organization. Rather, it is the questionable characters who were on our government payroll under the Truman-Acheson regime but quietly hit the road for the U. N. when things became too hot for them in Washington.

Some were actual espionage agents. One woman, for example, was bringing Communist party instructions back to party members in Washington while drawing a $10,000 a year tax-free salary from the U. N. She was fired when it became too obvious what she was up to, but it took two years to finally make the dismissal stick because of the resistance by the U. N. legal eagles.

The head of the U. S. delegation to the U. N., former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, has acquired a reputation of not taking any sass from the Russians. He is disturbed, however, over the continuing Congressional investigations. He is not opposed to them; in fact, he is co-operating with the Senators. But he feels there will be no peace at the U. N. until its house is clean.

Politically, Republicans seem to be playing it smart in trying to make the U. N. workable. If this is impossible, it will be hard to put a lid on demands that the U. S. get out and stay out of the global organization. If it can be made to work, Republicans can take credit for correcting Democratic mistakes — including a long-time softness toward international Communists and their domestic brethren who have worked their way into high places here at home.

Your Birthday by STELLA

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1 — Born today, your life is likely to be a rather unusual one, for the stars have given you exceptional talents and the exact way in which you utilize them will determine the degree of success or failure in life. You are definitely an intellectual — even you of the fair sex — and the world of ideas interests you most deeply. You have strong opinions and you will hold to them despite all kinds of opposition. Actually, it seems as if opposition merely whets your appetite for battle.

Your psychic powers are keen — this is the cycle for those who seem to have gifts beyond the average in this respect. You are very sensitive to all that goes on around you and sometimes you can suffer as much for other people as you can for yourself. Learn to cultivate a happy optimism which, when coupled with a strong determination to better things as they are, can make you a real force for good in the world. You may promulgate some new philosophy of living which will long outlive you.

Although you are not one to show your affections, they are very deep-rooted. Once you have given your friendship, it is for life. Your circle of acquaintances may be reckoned in the many thousands, but your close intimates, counted on the fingers of one hand. You are not one to confide your innermost thoughts to anyone. You work out an idea; put it into operation — and then talk about it. Consequently your success seems a sudden one, when it comes.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Your ability to work hard when it's vital needed will react to your very definite advantage at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Don't promise more than you can comfortably deliver. Your friends will think better of you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — All work you make you dull and unhappy. Plan your time so that you can have some fun, now and then.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — A cheerful attitude will work wonders even when things look very dark. Indeed, it could work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Don't jump at conclusions or make any kind of a decision unless you give all angles careful consideration.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — This is a day when you may want to attempt what seems like the impossible. Try it. It could work.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — If it is possible to postpone a tentative journey, do it. Signs are not too good for extended travel.

Taurus (Apr. 21-May 21) — You may receive important information today — from a distance, perhaps. Act upon it at once to your advantage.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Hang on to your temper, no matter what happens. A sense of humor will always help under such conditions.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) — If you are restless, discover what's the matter with yourself — not others! Then make new resolutions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Traffic can be just as troublesome for a pedestrian as a driver — so watch your step while crossing the street.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Take the most of what you have and plan thoughtfully for the future. This is an important day for you.

928 LICENSES LIFTED

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1 — (INS) — The State Highway Bureau today reported withdrawal of 928 drivers' licenses during the week ended Sept. 18. Of the total, 62 were revocations and 866 were suspensions. Operating privileges were restored to 989 drivers during the same period.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Don't Chase Boys Let Them Do That

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been trying for almost two months to get this fellow to like me, and now that he's showing me his affections I can't stand him. The same thing keeps happening all the time. I like a boy. I try to make him like me and when he does, I stop liking him. What should I do?"

Why not give yourself a treat for a change? Enjoy the experience of having some boy try to make you like him!

Of course, you'll have to start holding yourself down. You can't allow yourself to get wild crushes on boys you only know casually. Boys you see around. You can't let yourself prance around, making chasing gestures. No sashaying to attract his attention. You'll definitely have to stop working so hard and let the boys labor for love. But if some boy's attention comes on you as a delightful surprise, it would be real fun for a change to help him gently and subtly to make you fall for him.

Edge In, Don't Shove

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been dating recently with a girl I've known practically all my life. We've been going out with another couple or two and having a lot of laughs and 'good times' together. But it doesn't seem to be enough for her, even though she gives the impression that it's too much. By that I mean that just having a good time doesn't seem to be enough — yet she turns down lots of dates with me because she thinks they cost me too much. She's a real puzzle!

"Some time ago she was pretty serious about a fellow, and their break-up is still on her mind. It might have something to do with her attitude towards me. I don't know. I like her a lot since I've been taking her out and I wish she'd give herself a chance to like me as much. Should I see less of her, more of her or what? I'm 22."

A girl who thinks she's been bruised and battered in love can react rather violently. She can bounce rapidly into the arms of any boy close enough to catch her. Or she can play dead while she nurses her wounds, and nobody's nudges get any signs of life out of her.

Your girl obviously hasn't bounced into your lap. In fact, she's fending off just fun as being not fair to you. It's wasting your time and your money. It's encouraging you to no good purpose.

She isn't over her old love yet. And a new love is the only thing that'll do it. Too many laughs with too many people on your dates with her don't encourage sentiment. Try dating her alone. And if fun with her alone doesn't do the trick, it might be that you are wasting your time.

Patton Widow Dies In Fall Off Horse

HAMILTON, Mass., Oct. 1 — (INS) — Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., widow of the famed World War II general, was killed Wednesday when thrown from a horse while riding with friends.

Mrs. Patton was dead on arrival at Beverly hospital.

Friends said the horse shied.

Firemen Quench Blaze in Shack

Bristol firemen under the direction of Chief Clifford Hagerman, of Consolidated Fire Company No. 1, quelled a fire in a shack behind the Acme Market on Pond street Tuesday afternoon.

Chief Hagerman said the structure was probably built by boys for use as a clubhouse. Ruled a fire hazard, firemen tore the board shack down.

STRANGE, WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT CATHOLICS

They say that Catholics believe all non-Catholics will go to hell. That non-Catholic marriages are invalid. They say that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness in Confession—that they buy the souls of the departed out of Purgatory—adore statues—ignore the Bible—use medals for good luck charms and oppose freedom and democracy. They even say that Catholics believe the Pope is God. The above are strange misrepresentations of true Catholic beliefs. You yourself may have many Catholic friends, and you give them credit for honor and intelligence in many matters. Could they be foolish or wicked enough to believe the above nonsense? You can hear what Catholics really believe about these and many other subjects explained and discussed in a friendly, informal and tolerant way. You are respectfully invited, with no obligation placed upon you in any way to attend an Inquiry Class. Makefield Woman Loses Land Suit At County Court DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 1 — President Judge Hiram H. Keller, in Common Pleas Court handed down an adjudication in the Equity court dispute of John and Elizabeth Hatrak, 657 Beatty street, Trenton, N. J., versus Barbara Debrey, Big Oak and Pien Grove roads, Lower Makefield township, concerning an agreement of sale.

Another defendant, Joseph Debrey, who was named with his wife in the original Equity suit, died April 10, 1952.

Judge Keller, sitting as Chancellor, ruled that Barbara Debrey deed conveying to Mr. and Mrs. Hatrak, the rights, title and interest in the land in Lower Makefield township. Barbara was directed to deliver full possession immediately with the agreement of sale, dated July 18, 1951, and the amount of $12,000.

She was directed to pay the Hatraks compensation for the use and occupancy of the premises since Sept. 1, 1951, and also to pay the costs of the court proceedings.

The Equity court case was begun Sept. 8, 1951. The Court ruled that the agreement of sale contained no reservations of any life right or interest.

The defendants first offered to sell the property, involving eight acres at that time, on July 12, 1951.

The hearings were complicated because of language difficulties, and because the plaintiffs and defendants had trouble understanding English.

Issues a Warning On 'McCarthyism'

NEWTOWN, Oct. 1 — There is a deadly parallel between McCarthyism and the ill-fated drive to power of Huey Long in this country, Paul Blanshard, Jr., declared in discussing "McCarthyism and Democracy" before Newtown Forum Sept. 24th in Newtown Friends Meeting House.

He expressed a concern that, despite wide publicity from and about the Wisconsin Senator, Joseph R. McCarthy, "too few people realize what is at the bottom of McCarthyism and the other excesses of anti-Communism."

"Not one single Communist has been caught in government service in three and one-half years of McCarthy's investigations toward that end," he said.

"Your Cozy House is Our Worry"

You certainly tidied up nicely after installing the telephone. You've left no trace of your work—no sawdust, no little pieces of wire.

Thank you, Mrs. Snyder.

I must say you're a good workman.

That's part of my job. We try to plan our work to have very little of anything left over.

Mr. Snyder's like that. He has a workshop in the basement. Before he starts the least little job on his lathe, he lays out the whole thing very carefully.

Planning like that saves money, Mrs. Snyder. The more economical I am in the use of telephone material, the less the Company has to buy.

I can understand that.

Maybe you read a few months ago that we'd installed the three millionth telephone in Pennsylvania? If we installers have saved no more than a penny on each telephone, that would be a lot of money.

Just think, that would amount to about thirty thousand dollars.

You're right, Mrs. Snyder, and that's a lot of money. By keeping costs under control, telephone men and women help keep telephone service always a bargain.

Does Your Skin Look Lovely Twelve Months of the Year?

FOUNDATION LOTIONS are easily applied—a dot on forehead nose, each cheek and chin, then blend over your entire facial area.

By HELEN FULLETT

TO be a year-round beauty, a woman must follow daily complexion routines and take protective measures, too. A skin cannot get along on its own and retain youthful bloom. One must foresee the beauty troubles of the future.

Cold weather brings a chapped condition, hence the need for lavish creams and soothing lotions. They should be applied nightly.

The Cleanliness Rule. All through the year, one must combat atmospheric dust. This means a nightly scrubbing with soap and water. The job is more thorough if a complexion brush is used. Wash cloths must be changed frequently. Cleanliness is an important beauty rule.

There are lotions, balms, creams and liquid powders that guard the complexion against its enemies including age.

Sensitive Skin. If the skin is extra sensitive don't wait until bedtime to use a soothing cream. Apply it lightly immediately after your complexion's been blasted by harsh winds or dusty atmosphere. Tender skin can do nicely with several creamings each day. This also applies to skin that is exceedingly dry.

Foundation cosmetics serve as a barrier against destructive influences. They come in various skin tones. Select one that is closest to your skin color, and order powder to match.

Foundations and powders come in various forms. It is a good plan to try them out. You may find one gives more glamorous results than another. And follow directions. Proper application helps bring good results.

Women Invited To Make Bandages

Mrs. Greta Mikulan, president of Bensalem Unit of Lower Bucks County Production Group, American Red Cross, announces that bandages will be made starting this evening at 7:30 in Bensalem High School Library. Sessions will continue for the rest of the season.

The purpose of the sessions is to attain the goal of 40,000 bandages.

The group at present consists of but 10 individuals, and as the goal is high more volunteers are needed.

It is suggested that those who cannot remain for a full evening will add greatly by giving one hour or more.

The bandages being made at present are the four by four inch type, used for stump cases in all veterans hospitals.

Mrs. Mikulan will instruct.

CHICKEN SUPPER

WOODSIDE, Oct. 1—The annual chicken supper and bazaar of the Woodside Presbyterian Church will be held Saturday in Makefield Community House here. The affair is for benefit of the Manse Building Fund.

Miss Emma Dilliplane heads the kitchen committee and at the cake table will be Mrs. Olive Snelson; in charge of tickets is Norman Cloud; ice cream, Carl Hahn. Mrs. Charles Dilliplane heads the bazaar committee, and Mrs. Roy Coyne the dining room committee.

Garden Notes

By Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

With the arrival of cool weather, autumn flowers are now beginning to show lovely coloration. Chrysanthemums, both regular fall mums and the cushion type, are beautiful. Of course, not all varieties of mums bloom the same date, but many are beginning. Bronze varieties are now in full blossom. "Yellow Avalanche" is showing full color also. Others will soon be following this pattern. Perennial asters are at their prime coloration this week. "Mount Everest" is the widely-known white variety. This has been grown for years but still it is the traditional white favorite. The flowers are of the purest white we can ever find. "Harrington Pink" is my selection for a good pink aster. There are many off-color pinks but for a true decided pink, this is the excellent variety. This variety like the other aster varieties is excellent for cut flower work. Besides this purpose, mass plantings of one color or two, really make a marvelous autumn picture. "Skylands Queen" is a majestic blue variety. If a blue fall flower is desired, look for this good plant. Light blue flowers are prolifically borne on healthy green foliage plants. "Beechwood Challenger" has been the red selection in the aster group for a long time. The shade of red is vivid with a touch of blue blended in. Beechwood Challenger is a fine plant for every autumn use in your garden.

It has only been during the recent years that plant breeders have been working more strenuously with asters. Only this past year, several varieties were introduced with a varied reception displayed by the public. Why don't you try asters in your garden and see the difference autumn color will do when used properly?

Have you noticed the change of color exhibited by the wooded areas in this region? Cornus Florida, or white dogwoods, are a deep maroon shade. Large oaks are adding that golden cast to their foliage garb. Usually this change of color starts with the first frost. Well, this year the dry spell coupled with the extreme heat experienced earlier started the entire transformation. Dryness alone will turn the leaves very rapidly but frost only initiates a slow change. Consequently, this year, our wooded areas will become leafless much earlier than we should expect because of this dryness.

Talking about frosts and cool weather, let me again remind my readers to bring in any non-hardy or house plants that still are in your garden. Anytime, we may be surprised in the mornings to find that there has been a killing frost. While you are moving these plants, remember to repot these plants and fertilize them before bringing them indoors.

While working in the garden this week, watch out for young weeds just appearing through the soil. These are the "cool weather weeds." Cool weather weeds will continue to grow, flower, and produce future seeds during the warm days during the winter. Therefore, remove these weeds while they are yet small and easy to remove. "Chickweed" is the biggest enemy of our garden areas during the cool weather. This small green weed blooms prolifically with relatively small white flowers and bears seeds just as prolifically. These weeds, when once established, can soon choke or smother out any and all desirable vegetation.

Next week, we will begin a winter series of topics covering many phases of gardening. The majority of articles will be of an educational nature designed to aid those who are wanting to know the inside of gardening.

Until next week—happy gardening!

Petricks Attend 87th Inf. Reunion

BENSALEM TWP., Oct. 1 — Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Petrick, Newportville Heights, returned to their home Sunday following three days at the 4th annual convention of the Golden Acorn, 87th Infantry Division, held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, Philadelphia.

This division is noted for its aid in cracking the Bulge in World War II, it having swept through the heart of France, Belgium, Germany and into Czechoslovakia as a member of Patton's famous 3rd Army. The most note-worthy achievement was the capture of Coblenz. It was also the 2nd assault unit to cross the Rhine.

Among those members attending were many who are also Korean veterans.

All former members in this part of Bucks County are requested to get in touch with national headquarters, 7529 Sherwood Place, Phila. That city will also be the site of the 5th annual convention.

BARN

VENTILATION

The calf pen is often a good place for a ventilating fan. In this location the fan pulls warm air from the rest of the stables over the calves.

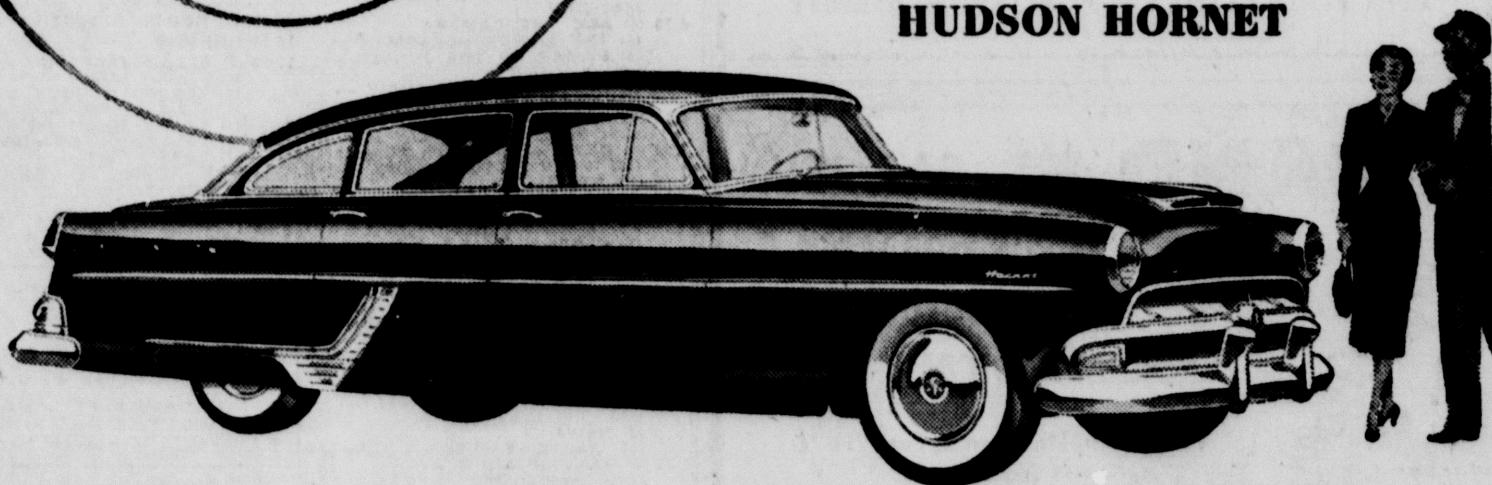

Automatic barn ventilation pays dividends! It keeps the barn "dry" and at a comfortable temperature, and removes objectionable odors. Dairy barn ventilation need not be complicated or expensive. In most cases all it requires is a single-speed fan, a set of automatic shutters, and a thermostatic control switch. A propeller-type hay drying fan may be used for winter barn ventilation.

Call or write our local office for information and recommendations on dairy barn ventilation. There is no charge for this planning service.

Meeting Mapped To Discuss Tax On Fire Hydrants

A proposed fire hydrant tax in the Levittown section of Bristol Township will be discussed at a joint meeting of Bristol Township Commissioners and members of the Lower Bucks Joint Municipal Authority.

George Sottung, president of the Township Commission, said yesterday he would call such a meeting.

Sottung said he had been informed by Commissioners Oscar Booz and Fred Hibbs that the commission had to pay $30 a year rent for each of the 200 fire hydrants in the Levittown area, a total of $6,000. There is a hydrant for each 600 lineal feet of frontage or one for every 15 houses.

The rental will be borne by taxpayers starting Jan. 1.

Booz suggested assessment of the hydrant fee might be easier if the Joint Municipal Authority figured the cost to each homeowner and added the amount to the water bill of each. He explained this would save a duplication of effort for the Commissioners since the authority has supervision over sewage and water. Sottung said he was in accord with the plan.

With additional homes being built in Levittown it seemed likely that 200 more fire hydrants would be needed by next year, Sottung said.

A&P

Customers' Corner

Birthday Promise...

This month, thanks to our customers, A&P celebrates its 94th birthday. In October, 1859, A&P opened a modest little store and started serving the greatest grandparents of many of our present customers. Because people liked the sound principles on which A&P was founded, we were privileged to grow into the organization that serves you today.

Your support helps us maintain the policies that bring more good food to more people for less money. We promise to strive constantly to make your A&P a better place to shop... for better values!

Bus Crashes Auto;
One Dead, 9 Hurt
At Sellersville
SELLERSVILLE, Oct. 1 — One man died and nine other persons were injured Tuesday at 11 p. m.
when a Wilkes-Barre-to-Philadelphia bus of the Martz Line collided with a sedan on White Horse Hill at the north end of the borough.

Walter H. Hess, 24, of 244 North Eighth street, Allentown, driver of the car, died at 3:35 a. m. today in Grand View Hospital. He suffered a skull fracture, broken ribs, and a punctured lung. His car was demolished.

Admitted to Hospital
Bus passengers who were admitted to the hospital with cuts were:
Philip Kavaleik, 30, of Wilkes-

Barre; Mrs. Gwendolyn Herman, 51, of Nanticoke; Bernard Travin, 41, of 930 Spruce street, Philadelphia;
Miss Mary DeMark, 35, of Avoca, and Henry Nycko, 28, of Wilkes-
Barre. Nycko suffered a hip injury.

Passengers treated and discharged were: Mrs. Betty Cox of Wilkes-Barre; Christine Rominski of York and Taylor roads, Philadelphia;
Helen Shabelski of 1423 North Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, and Francis Grogan, 28, of Kingston, driver of the bus.

Driver Posts Bond
Grogan posted a $1,000 bond on a charge of involuntary manslaughter pending outcome of a coroner's inquest.

Police Chief William D. Hammer-schmidt reported the right front of the automobile was struck by the bus, driving the car off the road into a clinder pile.

TROOP ELECTION
FALLSINGTON, October 1 —
Election of troop officers will be held Monday at 7 p. m. by the Girl Scout Intermediate Troop 114. The meeting will be at the Fallsington Library on Yardley avenue. The troop is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Women's Club.

2 Women Granted
Decrees of Divorce
DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 1 — Two wives, a Crofton mother with one daughter and a Bristol mother with four daughters, were granted divorce decrees in Common Pleas Court by Judge Edwin H. Satter-thwaite.

Mrs. Mae Marshall, 37, 2413 State road, Crofton, was granted a divorce from Russell Marshall, 40,
821 Washington avenue, Crofton.
They were married March 13, 1936.
In Elkton, Md., by the Rev. C. M.
Cope. They have a daughter.

Mrs. Josephine S. Parr, 45, 225
West Circle, Bristol, was granted a divorce from Harry W. Parr, 53, whose present address is unknown.
They have four daughters ranging in age from 18 to 29 years. The couple were married May 30, 1922, in Elkton, Md.

The two decrees will become final upon payment of the costs in the office of Prothonotary Joseph A.
Keating in the Court House.

Brotherhood Plans
Comedy Take Off
On L'town Figures
LEVITTOWN, Oct. 1 — "From Here to Apoplexy," a comedy skit poking good-natured fun at many well-known personalities of this community, will be presented by the Brotherhood of the Levittown Jewish Center at its meeting Monday at 8:30 p. m. in the Fallsington
Free Library.

The satire will feature the Hollywood Castoffs, a newly formed theatrical group of the brotherhood. It was written by Si Lindenbaum, and will be co-directed by Bob Rosch and Marshall Spector. There will be no admission charge, and refreshments will be served.

In line with a newly established policy of the brotherhood there will be only one meeting each month on the first Monday. The meetings will be devoted to both business and social activities.

Two Committed To County Jail
DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 1 — George Wright, 55, of Oakford, was committed to the Bucks County Prison for 60 days on a drunk and disorderly charge by Justice of the Peace John Estlow of Lower Southampton Township.

Laura Worthington, 51, of Wycombe was committed to the Prison for a further hearing on charges of disorderly conduct and breach of the peace. Hearing will be before Justice William Wrigley of Edison.

The 1953 General Assembly voted unanimously for the general appropriations bill, allocating $823,872,000 for general purposes next year, including $446,679,000 for education.

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

The police chief at Langhorne wants to discourage children from playing with fire engines. There is a catch, to go with this from parents themselves—don't play with fire engines or fire, either.

When a ball of fire shot over the county the other night some suburbanites found out that they didn't have to go to the city to see the bright lights.

The people who are having trouble about the construction work along the turnpike are in favor of moving heaven—but not earth—getting the job done.

The Cornwells Heights couple who learned they were the heirs to unsuspected money found they had a lot of friends they hadn't known about. Their road to fortune is all tangled up with telephone wires.

The blaze in the motor of an automatic washer called out the Bristol fire department. The firemen were glad to put out the fire but balked at putting out the clothes.

The difference between the winner and the runnerup in the Trenton pancake eating contest was a mere one pancake. The loser's defeat was sweetened by a little extra syrup.

The women who are purchasing a new steam table and coffee urns for the Cornwells Heights station want to keep the pot burning, even around the fire trucks.

Supersonic speed is faster than the speed of light. Supersonic speed is just a little slower than the afternoon drivers on Radcliffe street.

The Levittown levity maker says he figured the old timers of the 1903 world series would turn up yesterday at Yankee stadium in wheel chairs. But they didn't use the wheel chairs and, he says, they wanted to show consideration for Johnny Mize's age, too.

Schedule Limits Hit By Capital Airlines

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1—(INS)—Jennings Randolph, assistant to the president of Capital Airlines, declared that an attempt will be made before the Civil Aeronautics Board to break what he called "the existing airline monopoly between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh."

Randolph, in an address at the Poor Richard Club in Philadelphia, said "Philadelphia deserves to be unshobbed from the limited schedules now existing between Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other major points in the west and southwest."

He pointed out that at present only one schedule airline serves the route between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

2 Women, Infant Injured As Auto Hits Utility Pole

EDDINGTON, Oct. 1—A passenger car was considerably damaged and two women and a baby removed to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, Tuesday afternoon, following a one-car accident on Street road, 500 feet north of Bristol Pike, at 2:10 p. m.

Mrs. Frances G. Miltzer, 32, 90 Lakeside Drive, Levittown, according to police, was operating a 1952 sedan, travelling west on Bristol Pike, and had made a turn north Mrs. Catherine Miller, 84 Lakeside Drive, Levittown, was holding her two-months-old daughter, Victoria, on her lap. As the sun was shining in the baby's eyes Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Miltzer attempted to place the baby on the seat between the two. It is reported Mrs. Miltzer lost control of the vehicle swerved to the left side of the roadway and crashed into a utility pole. The front end of the vehicle was totally demolished.

Bucks County Rescue Squad transported the three to the hospital. Mrs. Miltzer sustained injuries to the mouth, and lacerations of the left leg; Mrs. Miller, lacerations of the forehead, requiring 14 sutures and other minor injuries; the infant sustained a broken left arm. Two other children in the vehicle were uninjured.

Officer William Schramm, Bensalem township police, investigated.

Bible Presentation Promotion Feature

NEWTOWN, Oct. 1—Rally Day exercises were held in Newtown Presbyterian Church on Sunday. The following children were promoted from the primary department and participated in memory work in the program: Holly Biddle, sales manager for the Roller Bearing Company, Joseph Cornell, Thomas Goette, Elizabeth Gray, Geraldine Krusen, Kay Leedom, Hilda McKenney, James A. Rigby, Michael Rohrbaugh, Dorothy Walton and Wilma Wicand. Diplomas were presented by superintendent of the school, Henry C. Shriver, and the minister, the Rev. John E. Mertz, D. D., gave each one promoted a Bible.

Promotions were also made from all other departments. Other exercises were in charge of the primary department supt., Mrs. Russell Janney.

An added feature was report from junior representatives to the Pennington Island Presbyterian Camp during vacation by Sylvia Hinkle and Merritt Whiteside.

Oranges put in boiling water for about five minutes will peel easily.

Paroled Actress Wed to Physician

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1 (INS)—Actress Madge Meredith was on a honeymoon today with Dr. Charles L. Corley, a former Philadelphia physician.

They were married at the Hollywood home of Screen Writer Frances Marion.

The actress made headlines when she was sent to jail on conviction of having conspired in the kidnapping and beating of Nick (The Greek) Giannakis, her one-time business agent.

She was paroled July 15, 1951, after 29 months in prison.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 1—Donald R. Guthrie today was named assistant general manufacturing manager of the coated abrasives and related products division of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company.

Guthrie formerly was executive engineer in charge of engineering research. After joining 3M as a research chemist in 1939, Guthrie spent 5 years with the chemical and color laboratory.

Won't Succeed Taft, Lausche Contends

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—(INS)—Gov. Lausche made it abundantly clear today that he would under no circumstances name himself to the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Robert A. Taft.

Lausche, who earlier gave newsmen to understand that he believed it improper to name himself, reiterated:

"I am advised it is possible to appoint myself but to do so would be vain and improper. Under no circumstances would I give any consideration to that method of achieving the office."

State Kiwanians Regroup Districts

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1—(INS)—Samuel A. Wagner, Erie, is the newly-elected governor of the Pennsylvania district of Kiwanis International.

He was elected Tuesday at the convention of 1953 Kiwanis clubs.

Wagner will succeed Kenneth L. May, of York. He will take office at the end of this year.

Groupings Equalized

Other officers elected included Benjamin Ginader, also of Erie, district secretary, and Matthew Connell, Melrose Park, re-elected district treasurer.

The 17 Kiwanis divisions in Pennsylvania were redivided into 20 areas to equalize the geographical and historical groupings of the club.

Bucks County Shifted

Albert E. Barbano, Willow Grove, was elected lieutenant-governor of the newly created division which now also includes Glenside, Norristown, Conshohocken, Jenkintown, Whitmarsh Valley, Elkins Park, Plymouth township, Valley Forge and Phoenixville.

Another new grouping includes Quakertown, Lansdale, Ambler, Doylestown, Sellersville, Upper Dublin, Bucks County-Lincoln highway, Souderton and Pottstown.

New Plane in Offing For President's Use

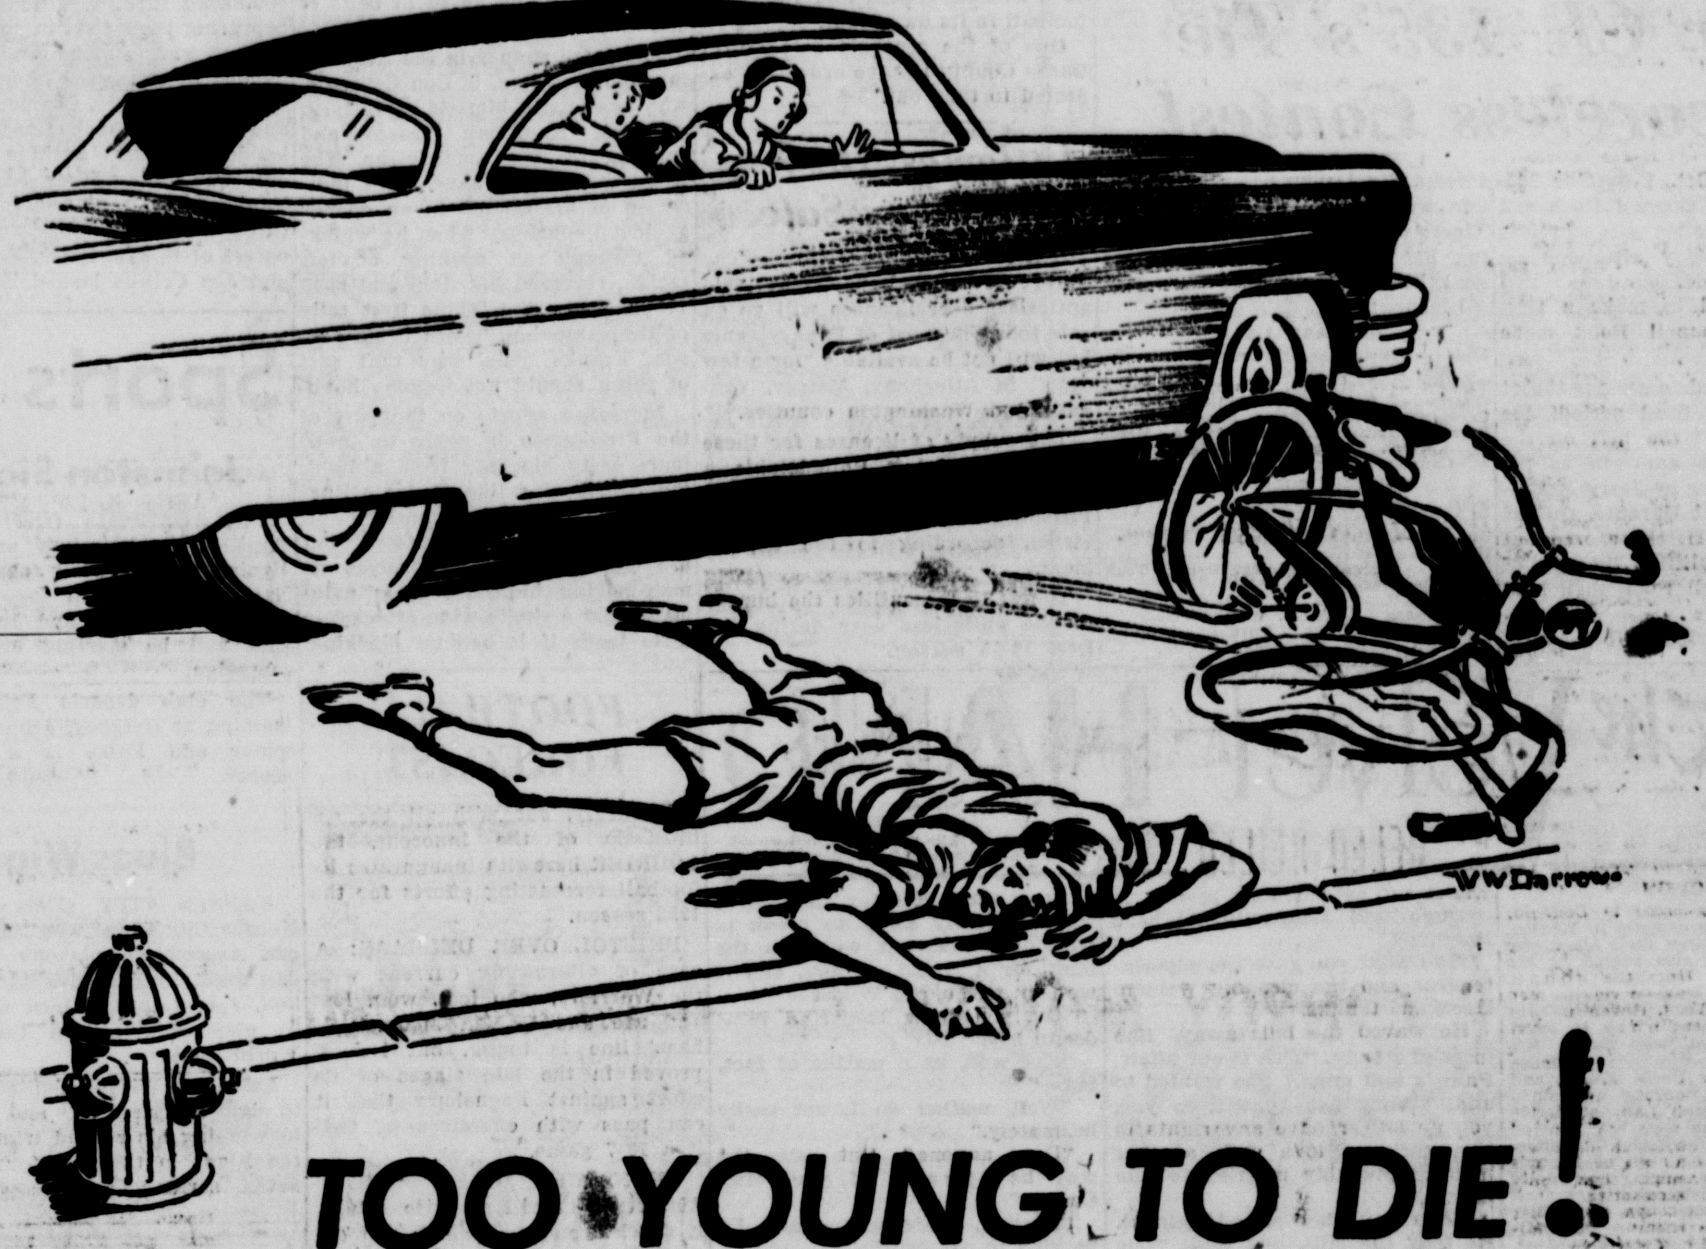

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(INS)—President Eisenhower is getting a new deluxe airplane to take him around the country more comfortably and speedily.

The new craft will replace the Columbine, the President's four-engined Constellation.

In its place a Super-Constellation is being fixed up for the President's use at the Lockheed plant in Burbank, Calif. It is about 12 feet longer than the Columbine and is equipped with turbo-compound engines designed to provide greater speed.

When epidemic strikes and takes its sudden and deadly count of the young, it tears at our heartstrings for there is so little we can do about it. Such tragedies may occur once in a year or two. But the highway toll of young innocents produces a casualty list every day, year after year. There is much we can do about it, for we are responsible.

In one year 4,300 young lives are snuffed out, over 200,000 injured and maimed for life. Three out of every four of these lives sacrificed to carelessness are from 5 to 14 years of age. Too young to die!

School safety patrols are holding down the casualties of children going to or coming from school. Two out of three are killed while outside of school supervision. That's the big reason why it's up to you, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, to protect little children. Be alert for the unpredictable actions of youngsters at play, crossing streets, chasing balls and riding bikes.

Little ones are thoughtless of danger; perhaps, too, they trust grown folks to guard them. Don't be the one to carry on your conscience the life of a child. Slow down, be alert where children may be at your mercy.

Spark of Life is Nerve Impulses, Scientists Observe

By DR. JAMES ROEBUCK

The automobile is to the mechanic as the human body is to the doctor. Chemists, bacteriologists, physiologists, anatomists, etc., are constantly bringing to light knowledge about our bodies that has been unknown heretofore. Members of the various healing professions procure the new knowledge as the discoverers are made. As each mechanic has his particular way of going about repairing a car, so it is with the healing professions.

As the ignition and spark is the "life" of your motor, so the nervous system and flow of nerve force is the "life" of your body. The chiropractor adjusts to allow nerve force to flow uninterrupted to all parts of the body so that normal function will be established and health results.

This is the twenty-fourth of a series of chiropractic educational advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday through the courtesy of Dr. James N. Roebuck, Chiropractor, 1805 Farragut Avenue, Bristol, Pa.

As the ignition and spark is the "life" of your motor, so the nervous system and flow of nerve force is the "life" of your body. The chiropractor adjusts to allow nerve force to flow uninterrupted to all parts of the body so that normal function will be established and health results.

County Health Backers Rally, Support Ballot

In his support of the proposed Bucks County Health Department, guest speaker Pascal Lucchesi, medical director of Einstein Medical Center, Philadelphia, said "you can't solve 1953 problems with tools that were made in 1900."

The occasion for this statement was a rally held in Doylestown, Tuesday night, by members of the Community Services Council of Bucks County who are backing the organization of a county health department.

Dr. Lucchesi explained the workings of the county health department as he experienced it while director of the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Needed Now
"It is time to realize that a fast growing county, such as Bucks County," said Dr. Lucchesi, "cannot delay the formation of a public health service which would seek needs of the county health through a centrally located body."

Another highlight in the meeting was the announcement that the State C. I. O. gave its support for the initiation of a county health department. The message of approval came in the form of a telegram from Harry Boyer, president of the Pennsylvania branch of the C. I. O. It was read by Dr. Richard I. Darnell, of New Hope.

Another sign of support was presented by the officials of the Central Labor unit of the A. F. of L. The endorsement was sent through the mail. Dr. Darnell said the local C. I. O. Steelworkers Union will discuss the subject at its next meeting on Oct. 6.

Crucial Issue
The issue on the county health department has been kicked around for the past ten years. However, it is only within the past two years that ample support has been garnered to give it voting chance. Voters who cast ballots at the next general election in November will decide the status of the health department.

The Bucks County Medical Society threw its hat in the ring on Sept. 10 when it issued a statement that it would "wholeheartedly give its support" for a county health department.

At that time, Dr. Darnell, chairman of the society's public health committee, said "over 2½ times the necessary number of signatures were gathered to put the program to a vote."

The referendum will be a simple "yes" or "no" vote to the question "Do you favor a county health department for Bucks County?"

Philadelphia Pair Foiled in Efforts To Lift Wardrobe

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 — (INS) — Two 17-year-old Philadelphia girls can forget their winter wardrobe problems today. They won't need fancy clothes at the Youth Study Center.

They were arrested when department store detectives caught on to their plan for obtaining new finery. Police said the girls would steal clothing from the stores, and then return the goods for refunds, with the idea of using the refund money to purchase apparel of their own choosing.

Authorities said they recovered about $250 worth of stolen goods in the homes of the girls, and said they had succeeded in getting refunds at only one store, buying a pair of shoes each with the money received.

School Program For Pennsbury Hinges on 'Ifs'

Pennsbury Joint School District pupils will start single sessions in 1954, contingent upon several "ifs," Regional Superintendent Medill Bair said yesterday.

"With the completion of Penn Valley School in Levittown and Fairless View Schools in Fairless Hills," the superintendent said, "it will be possible to place virtually all elementary pupils on single sessions." Completion date for the two schools, he said, is approximately April 1, 1954.

"This is contingent upon the completion date and upon the assumption that no substantial home developments still occur in our area before 1955."

Not Likely
"As far as we know," Bair said, "there is no further development planned for the immediate future in Pennsbury district."

Bair said he was informed there is a "slight possibility" that a new Levittown section, Vermillion Hills, may be erected between Emille-Fallington and Trenton-Hulmeville roads in the '54-'55 school year, and that expansion of Fairless Hills may continue at the same time. Bair said if these sections are not occupied before 1955 they will not prevent single sessions.

Meet Schedules
"There is every indication that Penn Valley and Fairless View Schools are meeting their schedules and will be ready in April," Bair said. Both projects were begun in June.

In addition, the superintendent said, Falls Township School Board has asked the State Department of Public Instruction to approve a second Levittown elementary school for 650 pupils and a 1000-pupil junior high school.

If prompt approval comes from Harrisburg, Bair said, the school board plans to seek construction bids Dec. 15, 1953, and begin building in the spring.

Garbage Collection Schedule Listed

R. T. Myers, chairman of health and sanitation committee, Bristol borough council, announces the winter garbage collection schedule for Bristol borough as follows:

Twice weekly, beginning Monday, Oct. 5th: Jefferson avenue, west, Mondays and Fridays; Jefferson avenue, east, Tuesdays and Saturdays.

"Put garbage at the curb every collection day, regardless of amount," Mr. Myers advises.

GLASS INK

GENEVA, N. Y. (INS) — Besides pens that write under water, there are also inks that write on glass. Steel President Hits Deification of State

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1 — U. S. Steel President Clifford F. Hood today declared the church and private enterprise stand in common opposition to deification of the state, excessive concentration of secular power and to "godless, grossly materialistic Russian Communism."

Hood said, however, he had been "distressed at times in the past to find some members of the clergy taking a disparaging attitude toward our economic system — because it is profit motivated. I see nothing antagonistic, nothing hostile between the objectives of the church and those directing American industry activity, he said.

"I believe a disservice to good will among men is done by any member of the clergy who speaks as if an alliance between church and labor, to the exclusion of management and, inferentially at least against management were a natural thing."

Labor, no less than management, uses a dollars-and-cents yardstick as one measure of progress, Hood said in an address before the Western Theological Seminary. "Those who bear the responsibility of directing industrial enterprises, such as U. S. Steel, do not regard seeking after adequate profit as an end unto itself, a worshipping of the golden calf."

A Mid-West company has developed a trailer with a sidegate which can be used as an elevator to lift heavy weights from the ground to truck level. The elevator is operated by compressed gas.

Rotary Governor To Visit in Area

The governor of the 265th District of Rotary International will make his official visit to the Morrisville Rotary Club today.

Daniel E. Bause, Sr., of Boyertown, will address members of the club at a dinner meeting at Pennsbury Inn. He will then confer with club officers and committee chairmen following a regular meeting.

Meeting Scheduled On Sewage Odors At Fergusonsville

FERGUSONVILLE, Oct. 1 — The alleged foul air emanating from the Falls Township Authority sewage disposal plant here will be discussed Wednesday at a meeting of the Fergusonsville Community Center with the Bristol Township Commissioners, health board and district Sanitary Engineer George A. Elias, of the State Board of Health.

The meeting was announced by George Quinn, chairman of the civic group's improvement committee, who said it will be held at the Community Center at 8:15 p. m.

The plant disposes of sewage from homes in Fairless Hills. Following complaints of local residents that offensive odors and noise came from the partly-completed plant, the Bristol township board of health began an investigation.

The smell has been attributed to two large uncovered lagoons in use at the plant. At a recent meeting of the Community Center and Improvement Association, a letter from Elias, read to the group, said that Danforth Corp., builders of Fairless Hills, was permitted use of the partially-completed plant, "contingent upon the expeditious completion of the plant."

'54 Steel Prospect Painted As Bright

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — (INS) — The magazine Iron Age said today that first reports on the outlook for steel business early next year are optimistic.

It reported that order books of a few mills have been opened on one or more products, with initial response from consumers better than had been expected.

4th Quarter Shaded
Meanwhile, the publication notes that, based on orders on the books and expected to come, fourth-quarter steel business will be only a shade below the third quarter.

It said that steelmaking operations in the third quarter averaged 9.6 per cent of rated capacity, with a wildcat strike during most of September at the nation's fourth largest steel plant shaving the national rate by about four per cent. This deferred to the final quarter some production which had been planned for the preceding three months.

Operations Up a Point
Iron Age placed operations this week at 95 per cent of capacity, up one point from last week.

It said that inventory correction, now at its peak, has been going on for some time, and should be largely completed within the next two months. It said such a correction occurs every time the steel market shifts from shortage to plenty.

LOWER BUCKS COUNTY'S OWN DAILY

BRISTOL, PA., THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 1, 1953

WHERE'S LIBBY?

Follow the adventures of Philip and Kit Haven and the trail of the missing Libby in "The Velvet Hand," romantic mystery novel, daily in The Bristol Courier.

How COURIER Staff Produced "Meet Your Neighbor Edition"

ADVERTISING in special 48-page edition is sold and prepared under direction of Advertising Manager Joseph H. Elbertson, laying out "ads" with Joseph McHugh, of display advertising staff. Total advertising in "Neighbor" edition was approximately 70,000 lines, more than 250 columns.

NEWS AND FEATURES FOR COURIER'S 30,000-copy "Meet Your Neighbor" Edition are gathered, written and edited in the news room at city desk. News Editor J. R. Mather, right, with John J. Kerrigan, managing editor, plan make-up of edition as Mrs. Charles Beckman, staff reporter, types away at special feature and Sports Editor Joseph Mach compiles information for athletic round-up.

Press Is a Part Of Established Freedom in U. S.

Screen of Official Privacy Cited As A Present Threat

Have you asked yourself, "Why all this stir about National Newspaper Week"? There's a reason—a very definite reason—and it concerns you.

Carl R. Kesler, a newspaperman and editor of Quill magazine, wrote recently about freedom of the press and of information. Though his piece is written as one newspaperman to another, it contains a message worthy of serious thought by every American.

Here is what he said:

It seems to me that even the last year or so I have more and more frequently encountered misunderstanding of the very meaning, let alone the importance, of the group of basic freedoms that include the press. There is certainly confusion about freedom of the press as such and the newer, more embracing term, freedom of information.

Laymen Blameless

I can't blame laymen too much for not understanding the precise meanings of these terms. Even the professional journalist finds himself hard put for words to describe these rights or to differentiate accurately between them, insofar as there are differences.

But this should not discourage us as missionaries. I feel strongly that where there is seeming inability to understand what a right is, indifference to its preservation will follow.

It is easy to oversimplify such definitions. For example, that freedom of the press is the constitutionally guaranteed right to publish it if you can get it; while freedom of information involves access to news (and other forms of knowledge, of course) as well as the right to disseminate it.

Case Illustrated

I could follow this up with an illustration. The North Carolina legislature, faced with a record state budget, rushed through a bill providing secrecy for appropriations—committee sessions. Actual voting, of course remained open.

I could understand, if not approve, the budget-makers' desire for privacy. It is hard enough to apportion the state's income with pressure groups snapping at your heels, without having the press bring down the pack in full cry. But it is better to have an honest legislator embarrassed for thinking out loud than to let the dishonest ones horde trade behind closed doors.

Up to this point, I should say that North Carolina's offense was against the broad theory of freedom of information rather than against any specific statutory guarantee of freedom of the press. The whole area of access to public records has been a sort of legal no man's land from state to state and year to year.

Fines Proposed

But the North Carolina legislators also proposed fines and even jail terms for anyone who might violate this secrecy. There, I suggest, lay a plain violation of basic freedom of the press. On theory, any newspaper that printed anything about the budget discussions might be presumed on the face of publication to have invaded the meeting, even though the story came from a talkative committee member instead of up a hot air register.

Unfortunately for such pat examples, even freedom of the press is not as simple as the eloquent brevity of the Bill of Rights seems to make it. There is no question about the purpose of the First Amendment as Thomas Jefferson and others intended it.

Language Cited

But the language says "Congress shall make no laws . . . abridging . . ." This did not automatically restrict the powers of state legislatures. Most state constitutions followed the federal one in this, but it is not universal.

So further resort has been made to the Fourteenth Amendment, adopted in 1868, which says: "No state shall make or enforce a law which shall bridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law . . ." But even the sum of these, in the light of subsequent court decisions, is by no means absolute.

Hamilton Right

Hamilton was at least partly right. The Argentine constitution was copied after ours, including freedom of expression. But consider what happened to its press when "the general spirit of the people and of the government" became that of Juan Peron.

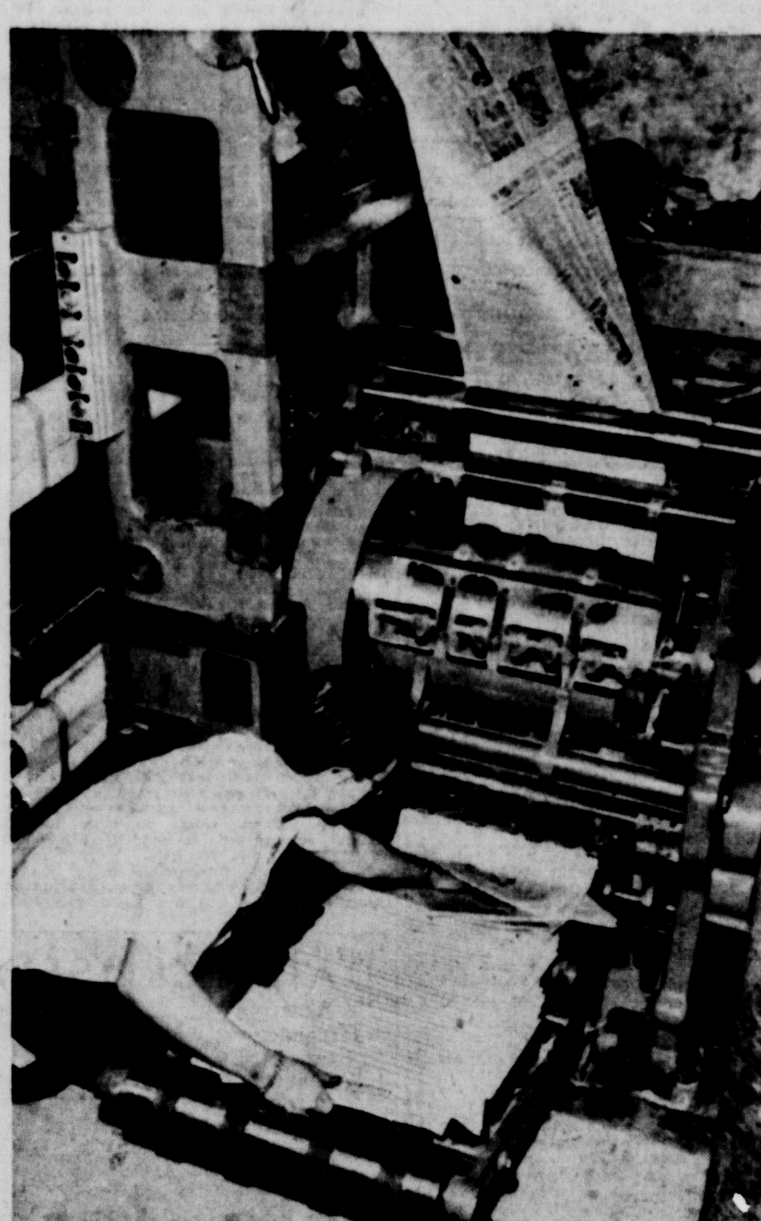

We have the First Amendment and other laws and thank heaven for them against any sneak thieves who might attempt to steal our freedoms but would never dare make a frontal attack on the Constitution.

IN COMPOSING ROOM, news and "ad" copy is set in type by Sydney E. Scott, machinist-operator. Five Linotype machines in COURIER shop are in constant use during day with COURIER'S increased activity. Other operators work machines late at night.

MAKE-UP MAN, Thomas H. Herbert, inserts and locks type into chase as News Editor Mather looks on. Locked-up form is run through mat roller to make pulp-paper matrix impression of each page. Matrices are taken to basement pressroom and cast into tubular metal plates for press.

PRINTED PAPERS, emerging from THE COURIER'S Dek-A-Tube rotary press at 22,000 an hour, are picked up by Robert Whalen from the press "delivery." A Conveyor system to be installed will carry papers directly to circulation room on ground floor.

Levittown Democrats Choose School Plank

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 1 — Democratic candidates for school board in the municipalities governing Levittown today pledged themselves to a ten-point program which they will attempt to put into effect in the event of their election in November, according to A. Patrick Brennan, chairman of the Levittown Democratic Party.

Candidates promised to expedite the school-building program, fight for single sessions and establish kindergartens as soon as possible, among other points.

Agree on Plank

Five of those who agreed to the platform are residents of Levittown: Roger F. Witt, 256 Lakeside drive, and Mrs. Michelle Kahn, 14 Lakeside drive, candidates in Tullytown Borough; Mrs. Ellen Sarnier, 21 Gate lane, and Mrs. Patricia Gannon, 23 Flower lane, candidates in Bristol township, and Mrs. Beatrice Lipinski, 40 Pebble lane, of Falls township.

Also backing the platform were William Leigh, Main street, Tullytown, and Calvin D. Morrison, 624 Princess avenue, Croydon. Leigh is a Democratic candidate in Tullytown borough and Morrison in Bristol township.

Program Listed

The platform follows: "Candidates for school board on the Democratic ticket in Bristol township, Falls township and Tullytown borough promise when elected to support the following ten-point program:

"1. To provide single sessions in all schools at the first possible moment.

"2. To provide kindergartens as soon as possible after the needs of the primary grades have been provided.

"3. To expedite the school-building program.

"4. To cooperate fully in the necessary steps for providing high school in the Lower Bucks County area.

"5. To incorporate advanced educational methods.

"6. To cooperate closely with teacher and parent groups.

"7. To advocate closer cooperation between the school boards and school administration.

"8. To work with all communities in the area to advance their educational facilities.

"9. To provide adequate physical protection and civilian defense training for children during school hours and to improve safety factors where they are needed.

"10. To urge further Federal aid for primary and secondary schools."

TICKET CHANGE

The Bucks County Board of Elections has announced that Lois Patton, not William J. Finnegan, Jr., is running for inspector of elections on the Democratic ticket in Bristol Township, Sixth Ward.

Convert Russia Will Be Theme Of Peace Talk

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 1 — John M. Haffert, historian and author, and principal advocate among American Catholic laymen of devotion to Our Lady of Fatima, will speak on world peace through the conversion of Russia at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 12, in the Edgely Fire Hall.

Haffert, whose speech will be given under the auspices of St. Michael the Archangel parish, Levittown, believes that a lasting peace can be won without war provided enough people unite in prayer, as promised during the Miracle at Fatima. Haffert's talk here will bear the same title as his latest book, "Russia Will Be Converted."

Tickets to the talk may be obtained from any of the parish unite in prayer, as promised during the Miracle at Fatima. Haffert's talk here will bear the same title as his latest book, "Russia Will Be Converted."

Haffert has made annual trips to Fatima in Portugal, where a vision appeared to three children in 1917. He has been privileged to witness three of the miraculous cures attributed to this shrine and is the only American layman who has had a private audience with Lucia, the sole survivor of the three children.

As commander of the Blue Army, the interdenominational group which is spreading the message of Fatima throughout the United States, Mr. Haffert was instrumental in sending the famous statue of the Pilgrim Virgin into Korea.

Haffert has been compared to Bishop Fulton Sheen as a speaker. In his talk he will deal with the story of the events at Fatima in 1917, the meaning of the message given there and the significance of the devotion to Our Lady of Fatima as a visible testimony of the ever-growing spiritual resistance to the indifference and secularism of our age from which Communism has grown.

Eight new members of the Bensalem High School Alumni Association were seated Tuesday night when the group met in the school.

President William Bracke presided.

The directors discussed the forthcoming Get-Together Dance, to be held Saturday, and ordered all bills paid in expenses for the cent.

Future dances for students were discussed.

Hazel Lamon, subscription representative for The Bensalem, student newspaper with an alumni news section, announced that the first edition will appear late this month.

The annual homecoming was discussed with the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays suggested as possible dates for the event.

Bracke was made temporary chairman of the homecoming event, to work with Mrs. Alice Hays, Mrs. Joy Frankhouser, LeRoy Wan, Otto Grupp, 3rd, Ralph Barclay and Mrs. Doris Muller.

Mrs. Albert Geiges, girls' athletic chairman asked alumni women interested in a hockey match with the High School varsity team to enroll with her. The game will be played Oct. 10. Oct. 17 is the rain date.

Alumni gym night will be observed Oct. 20 in the high school gymnasium, it was announced. The evening will be devoted to practice for the boys' and girls' alumni basketball teams.

As the gym night coincides with the alumni's regular date, the meeting will probably be held on another night in the third week of October, it was announced.

WASHINGTON CROSSING, Oct. 1 — At least 300 White-throated Sparrows will be banded in the next thirty days at the Bird Banding Station in Washington Crossing Park.

In addition to sparrows, it is expected that many Towhees, Catbirds, Thrushes and Warblers will be banded.

Norman C. Fisher, Nature Director of the Park, said that within the next two months thousands of birds will flock through the Park on their migration trek South.

During October and November, regular bird programs, free to the public, will be held every Saturday and Sunday afternoon at the Bird Banding Station at 4 p. m.

'Beggars' Will Seek Clothes For Needy

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 1 — Using the slogan, "Hallowe'en can be fun for everyone", a community wide program called "Friendly Beggars Night" is being planned for Lower Bucks County youth by the Friends Service Association with headquarters at the William Penn Center, Fallsington.

"Dressed as spooks and witches, children ring doorbells as usual," according to the announcement of the Penn Center. "Then comes the new feature. Instead of begging candy, cookies, or apples for themselves, they do their begging for unknown, far away friends who are in need of clothing and other necessities of life. This new kind of Hallowe'en celebration promises to prove once more that it's exciting to be out on Hallowe'en only this time begging for those in need instead of for oneself."

The Friendship Barrels Committee of the Friends Service Association which is organizing this special project reports "Friendly Beggars Night" comes at a critical time in the world's history when relief to the ragged and hungry of the world may go far toward building the good will between nations upon which peace depends."

To Provide Bags

The Committee will provide cooperating organizations with large paper bags carrying the red and black star sticker of the American Friends Service Committee, the Quaker agency which will pack and ship the clothing to the needy people of the world, regardless of their race, religion, or nationality.

Instructions telling the kind of clothing and materials to ask for and how local groups can best plan their Friendly Beggars project are available.
